Wuhan has adopted the "prompt, online, nearby and one-stop" approach in the government examination and approval processing and continued to improve on it (please check below for details) so as to raise the efficiency and service quality of government departments

Wuhan strives to make the whole process of real estate registration can be handled online. Related simple procedures should be completed on site immediately. And the approval procedure of mortgage registration and registration of transfer should be completed within 1 workday.

Wuhan also explores to help medium/small/mini-size enterprises to get access to utilities like water, power and gas supply at little charge without running to different government departments to get various approvals.

Improvements on the government examination and approval process:

Cut down the number of approval items and links, reduce the documents required for approval, shorten the time window of approval, coordinate government departments in charge of different platforms, and make a better use of big data and information technology so that the public run less for the approval procedures and get things done in a much more efficient way.
